SAYS BUBONIC

Dr. Carter Sticks to His Diagnosis.

Government Physician Wood Sent to Investigate Reports No
Plague in Makao.

There still exists doubt as to whether the two cases of suspicious sickness reported in Koolau by Dr. A. B. Carter, are the plague. Dr. Carter himself insists that they are genuine cases of bubonic disease and is much exercised over the fact that the Board of Health physicians failed to pronounce them such. Although Dr. Carter has never had any experience with the plague he is an expert microscopist and bacteriologist and a physician whose opinion counts for a good deal.

Dr. Carter telephoned the Board of Health first concerning the suspicious cases, from his residence at Makao on the other side of the island, last Thursday afternoon. That evening a special train carried Dr. Hoffmann and Dr. Garvin, the latter the executive officer of the Board, to the scene. The patients, an old native and his son, were examined, declared by the Board doctors to be free from any suspicious symptoms and the physicians returned to Honolulu early Friday morning, making their report as above.

Shortly before noon on Saturday, Dr. Carter again telephoned the Board of Health, insisting that the sick native and his son had the plague and reporting that he had again placed the old man's residence in quarantine.

President Wood was notified of this message and he arranged for Dr. Hubert Wood, government physician for the district of Waialua, about twenty-five miles from Dr. Carter's place, to go over to Makao and investigate the matter and to report on any possible developments since the Board physicians' visit.

Dr. Hubert Wood secured a locomotive from the plantation at Waialua and went to Kahuku Saturday afternoon, continuing his journey to Makao, a distance of about seven miles, by carriage.

The government physician examined both suspects and reported the following to the Board of Health by telephone:

"I found no indications of plague at all; the old native man had a temperature of 100 degrees and his pulse was at night. The boy, about 12 years of age, the old man's son, had tonsillitis; his temperature was 100½ degrees, and he showed no signs of pneumonia, both lungs being clear. The right sub-maxillary glands were swollen. I saw Dr. Carter. I am satisfied that there is no plague here."

It was reported on good authority from Makao yesterday that Dr. Hubert Wood had declared the two cases of sickness as necessitating a close watch. A representative of Dr. Carter telephoned a friend increased in medical matters in this city, yesterday afternoon, asking if anything was going to be done in the matter. The inquirer was acting on the understanding that the cases in Makao were plague.

Dr. Hubert Wood was called up on the telephone last evening by the Advertiser and asked to give his decision on the matter. The doctor said that all information could be procured from the Board of Health. He stated, however, that he had visited Makao and examined the patients and found nothing suspicious. He had reported this to the Board of Health. Asked concerning the report that he had declared the cases such as necessitated close watching, the doctor replied that he had made some such remark before he had seen the patients. Dr. Wood said that he was going to see the old native and his son again today.

People in Makao do not feel satisfied in regard to the action of the Board in this matter. They say that the patients were examined before Dr. Carter was seen or consulted and that Dr. Carter is not at all at ease concerning the cases.

A native woman died unattended in Waialua on Saturday evening, a post-mortem examination was held and liver complaint found to be the cause of death.

No plague was reported in Honolulu yesterday; two Sundays have now gone by without a plague case. It is of interest to note the fact that not before in the history of the plague in Honolulu have two consecutive Sundays passed free of the bubonic disease. Eight clean days are now credited to the present series of immense days.

Saturday afternoon there was a meeting of the Board of Health, but no business was transacted other than the finishing of the reading over of the minutes of meetings held during the epidemic.

The following cases were investigated on Saturday:
S. Matsumoto, Japanese, aged 20, on Punchbowl street opposite Albert Trask's place of business, reported by F. H. Sharpe, inspector, temperature 104, pulse 140, patient extremely nervous—Dr. Davis; T. Oda, Japanese, aged 40, on Printer's lane, Dr. Mori attending case, temperature 105, pulse 105, typhoid fever. Dr. Davis.

St. Augustine's, Kohala.

Under the Rev. E. J. H. van Deerlin alterations have been made in the interior of St. Augustine's Church, at Kohala, which have given the Chancel a more spacious and dignified appearance, and every one is pleased with the change. A new carpet entirely covers the chancel floor from the entrance to the east end. The guild is now going to paint the seats and the floor of the nave. When everything is finished it will be a perfect little gem of a country church. The Bishop will hold a confirmation here in May, if the quarantine is raised.—Diocesan Magazine.
